Community High Pictorial Summary
The Twenty-third Annual Student Yearbook
of
Community High School

District 218

Blue Island, Illinois

Old Main

Campus Building

Southwest Building

Now We Are 3

Foreword

To some Community High—Campus—Old Main —Southwest—are just buildings. But to those who know Community High, it is much more. It is—halls of learning—spirit—doors to success—Alma Mater—sports—dances—clubs—parties. Here we have laughed a lot—cried a little—learned as much as possible—and grown in wisdom and in stature.

Mr. Brodie receives congratulations from Mr. Ernest Maxey, president of the Village of Robbins; Mr. Hobart Engle, assistant superintendent, Cook County Schools; Rev. Thomas P. Logan, of St. Aidan's Episcopal Church; and Mr. Robert Nicol, junior partner of Nicol and Nicol.

Dedication

To the gals and guys — and the wonderful faculty—of the new Southwest Building!

Let us all join in helping the new school develop and prosper, just as we have done at Old Main and the Campus Building.

SOUTHWEST
BUILDING DEDICATION

Dr. Richards receives a symbolic golden key to the building from Architect Charles W. Nicol. In the background, Mr. J. E. Brodie, principal of the new Southwest Building.

Mrs. Guy, Home Making teacher at Southwest, shows some of her visitors samples of student work.

THE NORTHWEST BUILDING IS NEXT

Architect's sketch of the new Northwest Building, now under construction at the corner of Ridgeland and 115th. This building will serve freshmen and sophomores from that area, and will be ready for occupancy in September of 1959.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Board of Education

The colors of the most beautiful plant fade—but care, before and after its birth—regularly administered, can preserve its bloom. Thus our Board of Education comes into its true place in the evolution of youth—with all given unsparingly to nurture our school — to spread its roots deep into the hearts of the community.

The featured soloist at the 1957 Commencement seems very happy to get her diploma. Delores Washington and Dr. Richards.

Dr. Richards

We see him again and again as we pass his office and in the halls, working and planning for the welfare and profit of the student body. In spite of all his many responsibilities, he always has a smile and a good word for everyone.

Dr. Richards Honors Members of Golden Anniversary Class

At the 1957 Commencement exercises, six members of the graduating class of 1907 were given special Golden Anniversary diplomas by our superintendent. Pictured on the platform with Dr. Richards after the ceremonies are Rose Clancy Kendrick, Harry Burkhart, Peddie Longfellow Schneider, Ida Burno Bohmker, Lydia Andrea Mueller, and Florence Clark. Mr. Ames, principal of the senior class, in the rear.

Administrative Assistants

This year because of the new building and the continued increase in students and faculty, four new positions were suggested by a University of Illinois study of our administrative set up, which was adopted by our Board of Education. The duties of the men appointed to these jobs are to assist Dr. Richards in the special fields designated for each.

— The Seniors —

A Senior Says Goodbye

High school graduation brings to mind memories of things
we're leaving behind—
The merry laughter, the old pep song
The homework assignments that seemed so long.
All the victories for which we cheered
And the Cardinal losses which we feared.
At the Campus Building we like to greet
The many friends that there we'd meet.
Our teachers—they always did their best
To help us meet with much success.
The Senior Night party—where we had so much fun,
When it was over we wished it had just begun.
The surprise at the announcement of the homecoming queen
Boy, that night was really keen!
The clubs that did so well
Because the members were really swell.
These have slipped by—these precious days
Time has come—we go our parting ways,
And as we walk in cap and gown
Sadly hearing the regal sound
Of Pomp and Circumstance's clear refrain,
We know these are the moments we'll never regain.
So with a tear—a nod—a sigh
We gather our memories and say "Good-bye."

FRESHMAN CLASS
OFFICE AIDES

To help in keeping the records of all the freshmen at Old Main takes plenty of careful work on the part of these girls who work under Mr. Blunk's supervision.

Seated left to right are Jeanette Baer, Karen Brockman, and Mr. Blunk.

Standing are Kathy Radtke, Barbara Pontius, Bernadette Lynch, Diane Rusnak, and Janet Terstano.

Athletics

Homecoming

The lead off dance with Pat and Lee.

The grand march led by Barbara Richmond and Warren Harris.

After the crowning, Pat is chauffered to the dance by Bill Doepp and Lee Featherstone.

The Queen's court: Judy Karlstedt, Lorraine Domikaitis and Barbara Richmond.

Mike Evans escorts Pat to the Queen's Throne.

Football 1957

ED WATSON, 19, Guard
A good dependable offensive guard.

DICK RAUWOLF, 44, Tackle
First year out for football.

KENNETH BRONSON, 1, Quarterback
Out most of the year with a bad shoulder.

HARVEY MULDERINK, 24, Tackle
Played both offense and defense.

BILL MORI, 37, End
Turned out to be a very fine defensive end. Smart.

DENNIS SCHUEMANN, 23, Guard
Waited until his senior year to come out.

JERRY LEBEAU, 14, End
Good pass receiving end.

JIM MOORE, 2, Halfback
All league halfback. Honorary Captain elect.

JOHN HARDING, 5, Center
Good blocker for his size.

FREDDIE WOODS, 10, Fullback
Picked most valuable player by the coaches. All league fullback.

RON DAVIS, 4, Quarterback
Did a good job considering his lack of experience.

RICHARD KING, 20, Fullback
Very dependable. Played a fine game at Fractional

JORDON MARZANO, 26, Guard
Good defensive man.

WALLY BARR, 36, Guard
Hampered all year with a shoulder. Had a lot of desire.

JIM FLORES, 28, Tackle
A good boy to have around. Never missed practice.

LOWELL LADWIG, 29, Center
Missed his junior year in football. Very dependable.

GARRETT MEHOK, 8, End
Tough defensive end.

KENNETH DICKEY, 30, End
Much improved football player over the year.

CHARLES SIMPSON, 32, Tackle
Good blocker when he made his mind up to do it.

OFFENSIVE UNIT

Third row: Beverly Anderson, Janice Brice, Cordelia DeVries, Kenneth Holmberg, David Bradtke, Janet Clarke, Geraldine Miller.

At the Mayfair Cordelia DeVries show a sweater to Miss Martinez, R.N., as her employer Henry Baumann and Mrs. Dorothy Buchanan give moral and oral support.

Kenneth Holmberg hands change to customer, Tom Bonamer, from a paint sale at the Worth Hardware as his father and trainer checks his mathematics.

Jacqueline Bunyea writes down the name of her customer, Mrs. L. Postweiler, 2633 New St., Blue Island, as Mrs. Margaret Pelaske, her supervisor at Checker Cleaners, checks for errors.

Ed Hawkinson fixes a produce display at the Jewel Tea in Tinley Park as John Cowenhaven, manager, and Gordon McClelland, give suggestions.

At Montgomery Ward shirt counter Nancy Reid tells her customer about a new shirt just received as Harry Holm, manager, stands by to give sales help if needed.

Gerald Kiaser helps with the very attractive bulletin board at the Old Main library. Here he creates a Nativity scene as a part of a part of a Christmas time display.

Nola Mindeman pulls out the catalog cards for those books no longer at Old Main.

Mrs. Grant (right) of the library staff, supervises the work of Evelyn Ostrowsky, student side, who helps by stamping and embossing some of the new books.

Karen Roegner is searching the card catalog to see if the library has some of the latest books for teenagers, as listed in a current bibliography.

Robert Lundgren is filing catalog cards for new books in the library.

Sandra Nieman is pulling cards from our new card catalog.

At Community High, We Really Like to Work!

Many Community High Students Give Extra Work, Time, and Service To Teachers, Offices, Library, School Nurse - - - Helping Themselves And The School

Student aides are active all over our school, as these pictures prove! Not only do they help their fellow students and their teachers, but even more, they learn something about possible future jobs. At least they learn how to do certain tasks and do them well.

Walter Jankowski is checking a bill for new books and writing the date received and the price in each book.

Gladys Klein and Norma Boyd check in current magazines and mark them for their destination in our school system.

These six people are always busy at the Old Main library.

Seated: Leslie Warning has charge of receiving current magazines and putting them on the racks. Mary Kraaz prepares the special collections desk for the next day's routines. Joan Kirby files between 300 and 500 cards each day at the main charging desk.

Standing: Roberta Reihel helps during the afternoon rush for over-night books. Charles Phifer and Martha Cromwell are concerned with the care and return of the books.

Overnight books have just been returned before first period, and Tom Veronese, Charles Phifer and Pat Peters have their hands full for a while.

Daily newspapers and a book display rack in the popular browsing corner are being reviewed by Mary Lou Bollinger and Nancy DuClos.

Library Club members trim the Christmas tree.

Seated: Barbara Burton, Bernadene Dorsey, Eugene Davis, and Larry Sanders.

Standing: Miss Echols, Librarian, Juledean Sapp, Maude Hayes, Dorothy Hale, Herschel Beard, Eugene Barbee, George Starks, Joseph Scott, Randolph Marsh, Geraldine McCammon, and Irene Tellis.

Filing pamphlets, checking books out and in, preparing returned books for replacement on the shelves, and charging books out are some of the tasks that Donna Meyer, Betty Johnson, Ella Hartl, Wallis Wrehsnig, and Jacqueline Papienau are responsible for at the Campus Library.

The magazine corner needs to be kept in order for daily reference. Here Gloria Diehl is at the Readers' Guide desk where students check magazine references: Sharon Carboneau is finding the back number of a magazine for a student, and Julia Dyrcz is arranging current magazines on the shelves alphabetically.

STUDENT AIDES IN THE
COUNSELOR'S OFFICES

Mrs. Tysiak (center) shows student aides the routines of office procedure.

SOUTHWEST BUILDING OFFICE

Recording attendance, collecting absence reports, and filing are only a few of the many duties of this fine group of office aides.

Seated, left to right: Geraldine Sims, Joyce Bond.

Standing: JoAnn Kelly, LaWanda Foulkes, Myrtle Williams, Origreen Jones, Myrna Moore, Patricia Witcher, Earceal Farmer.

Arthur Askew has had his eyes checked by Mrs. Parson, who is emphasizing the importance of getting glasses prescribed by an oculist.

Marsha Berg applied her skills in typing, filing, and recording for Mrs. Larson.

Pat Reus, student aide, has just filled an ice bag to be used to reduce the swelling over Marie Ledges' eye.

Norma Orsolini (standing) one of the student aides takes the temperature of Donna Dini. She will then record it for the nurse to use as a guide in instructions or care, as indicated.

Mrs. Stupp, nurse at Old Main, demonstrates the use of first aid in applying a bandage for Sharon Richmond and Rita Moreno.

LIBRARY AIDES ON DUTY IN THE SCHOOL LIBRARY

Delilah Burress stamps new books, Geraldine McCammon arranges encyclopedias on the shelves, Juledean Sapp and Juanita Chambers are at the desk, and Barbara Burton checks magazines.

NURSE'S AIDES AT OLD MAIN

Joan Davis and Sharon Richmond keep a record of all students who come into Mrs. Stupp's office at Old Main, do general filing, assist in first aid work, and run errands.

Lauralee Luetkemeyer assists Miss Irene Babcock, secretary, in keeping attendance records, where accuracy is stressed.

Mrs. Hazel Estes, secretary at Old Main, has two student aides working under her close supervision. Marsha Williams is getting practical experience in telephone techniques, and Joyce Henschel is typing.

Students working in the Old Main office soon learn that getting along with people is as important as doing a job well.

We Are Indebted

In telling the story of our three buildings for the first time, the Chips Staff and sponsor needed, and received, plenty of gracious and skilled help.

Outstanding (as usual) among those who made our tasks so much easier were two companies — the Root Studios, who took all of our pictures, including the very fine ones of the dedication of our new Southwest Building. And where would we be without the services of the Norman King Company, who produced our 1958 Chips?

Many faculty members helped us in identifying groups and describing their activities. A special bow should go to Mr. Richard Anoe, for photographic help, and to Mr. Nelson Kias, financial adviser for all publications.

Acknowledgment

A special note of thanks is due and extended to two former members of our Board of Education. Mr. George Peterson, faithful member for twelve years, passed away this year; and Mr. Leo M. Lawrence, Jr., who served with distinction for five years, resigned because of business commitments elsewhere. Both had done much to promote the best interests of Community High School.

Their positions have been filled by Mr. Edward Lode and Mr. Glen Hansen.

The students of the publication class study Chips of years gone by to make the "58" Chips interesting and worthwhile.

These girls did typing for the Chips as well as other assignments.

These publication students study the Root Special and decide what their order will be.
